

Joel McCarty

Interior machine-perspective view of the proposed 120-ft. lattice truss bridge designed by the Guild for the City of Guelph, Ontario. Not shown are the pin-couples at the lattice crossings, and the bridge decking, omitted to reveal the underframing. The bridge will be built by the Guild in June 1992 as part of its Eighth North American Conference.