

HEARTWOOD

Adam Miller

Adam Miller is an independent carpenter specializing in timber and log framing. He enjoys sharing knowledge learned from his own research and from work with others. Adam finds special joy in the layout and cutting of curvilinear work, both geometrically and organically derived. A long-time member of the Timber Framers Guild and Carpenters' Fellowship, Adam often presents at conferences and has edited Timber Framing, the Guild's technical journal, since 2018.

Course: Scribe Joinery