

Share your expertise in the journal Timber Framing

Have you ever thought about writing an article for Timber Framing, the journal of the Timber Framers Guild? Review the contributor guidelines below and contact Ken Rower, editor of Timber Framing, to submit your piece. kenrower@charter.net.

Timber Framing, Journal of the Timber Framers Guild Contributor Guidelines 2017

Manuscripts, defined as original material not previously published and not under consideration by another publisher, should be submitted in Microsoft Word format.

Photo images, likewise original and not previously published (including on the internet or on Facebook or the like) should be submitted as JPEGs, TIFFs, or PDFs, with minimum resolution 250 dpi at expected printed size.

Line drawings should be of print quality, inked if drawn by hand (pencil drawings generally cannot be scanned cleanly) and scanned at minimum 300 dpi resolution in grayscale or 1200 dpi in bitmap mode. CAD files should be exported and sent as print-quality PDF files.

Manuscripts with embedded images are welcome as indications of an author's intentions but should be accompanied by separate image files for all illustrations, at appropriate print resolution.

In preparing a contribution, please observe the following guidelines:

1. Images. Please choose images to go with points made in the text, number them and flag them in the text by number. A list of descriptions keyed to the chosen illustrations should accompany the submission. If uncertain which of two or three images to include, include them all as alternatives. If you have them, include portrait and landscape mode versions of the same subject (helpful in layout).

Please do not send a folder of scores of images unidentified except for camera-assigned numbers. The author is the best person to make the first cut.

2. Texts. We edit for factual accuracy, conciseness and clarity. We sometimes add material to increase relevant information for the reader. The more concise and thorough an original text, the less it will change under editing.
3. Magazine style. Texts will be edited to conform to Timber Framing's style for spelling and punctuation. In particular, for feet and inches, please use ft. and in., for example, 4 ft. 3 in. (not 4' 3"); for square feet, sq. ft.; for pounds, lbs.
4. Equations. In articles including equations, please use MathType to prepare them or an edition of Microsoft Word in which the included utility Equation Editor permits a choice of fonts.